MODESTO BRANCH 144

Dedicated to the promotion of independence and dignity of retirement

February 2021 Newsletter

Volume 02-2021

Message from Big Sir Anthony Butera

Hello Fellow SIR members we are truly well into 2021.

Right now, the pandemic--along with social and political unrest—perhaps some of us are going a little stir crazy. And January was hard even in normal times. For some, “there could be a subconscious kind of depression we get coming off the high from the holidays,” says John Dick, chief executive of Civic Science, a Pittsburgh consumer-research firm. The company surveyed nearly 3,000 adults between Jan. 8 and Jan. 11, with 27% of the respondents saying they felt the “post-holiday blues” more than last year.

Anticipation is a powerful device that can get us through tough times. A growing body of research shows that having an event to look forward to is linked to general feelings of happiness and positivity. As part of ongoing research on the effects of anticipation on emotion during the quarantine period, researchers at Wake Forest University asked 329 adult participants last April to fill out daily reports, rating on a scale from 0 to 6 not only how positively they felt, but also asking to rate on a separate scale from 1 to 4 whether and how much they were anticipating some kind of event or goal—whether positive, negative or neutral. Those respondents who reported anticipating a positive event were assessed to have a more overall positive outlook. By having a “positive anticipation of some kind of goal or future event is related to more control and motivation to deal with Covid,” says Christian Waugh, a professor of psychology at Wake Forest who led the study.

As for SIR members at Branch 144 we need to look forward to events going on right now within our Branch and county which involves interaction and exercise simultaneously. Branch 144 has a walking group every Saturday morning from 8:30am to 9:30am.

If 8:30am is too early, then just meet us around 9:00am on the trail at East La Loma Park. We walk the same course every week. We start near the tennis courts and head west and back all the time. And don't forget to stay tuned for our Bowling and Golf updates for Branch 144.

Whatever you do, stay safe, protect yourself by eating healthy and/or get the vaccine and keep a safe distance wearing a mask. And keep plugging into our monthly Zoom Meetings.

(On February 18th from 12pm to 1pm, Daren Williams from the Almond Board will give an update on the Almond industry and best practices) confirm this.

All of us are under attack right now by a virus, COVID-19. We, as all those over 65 years old, are susceptible to this virus, which could cause death. We need to take action now by seeking a vaccine. This special edition newsletter has been produced to give you information about the vaccine and where you can go to begin the process. Vaccines help our immune system fight infections in the future. COVID19 vaccines will protect us from the virus that causes COVID-19 without having to get the illness. It typically takes a few weeks after the last dose in a series to become fully protected. On the days after taking the vaccine, you may have a sore arm, aches, fatigue or fever, but these are not harmful. These symptoms signal that your immune system is developing protection from the virus.

In a race to produce a COVID-19 vaccine, scientists turned to a new technology involving our body's own genetic process. Inside our cells, DNA produces RNA that produces proteins. The Moderna and Pfizer vaccines transport RNA in a lipid or fat membrane to our cells via the vaccine. That RNA then instructs our cells to produce a protein like the one found on the surface of the SARS-CoV-2 virus, which causes COVID-19. Our immune system recognizes the virus's protein as an invader and produces antibodies to block the protein from proliferating in a future infection. People typically get infected by breathing in airborne droplets from a person who is carrying the virus. The droplets are spread if the carrier coughs, sneezes, talks or just breathes. SARS-CoV-2 has spike proteins on its surface, giving it a "corona" or crown shape. The proteins latch onto receptors on human cells, allowing the virus to invade the cell. As the spike protein attaches to one of our cells, it dramatically changes its shape. Peptides shoot into the cell and pull the cell wall apart, allowing the virus to invade. Once inside, RNA in the virus uses the cell's own genetic process to replicate large quantities of the virus that eventually burst out of the cell. In our bodies, DNA produces RNA that produces proteins. This happens inside our cells. The Moderna and Pfizer vaccines take advantage of this natural process by transporting RNA in a lipid or fat membrane to our cells and then instructing our cells to produce a spike protein like the one found on the surface of the virus. RNA vaccines work by getting our cells to produce the spike protein free of any virus. Our immune system recognizes the protein as an invader and produces antibodies to block the protein from binding with receptors in a future attack. In a major breakthrough, scientists at National Institutes of Health and the University of Texas realized that making a vaccine with the proper shaped protein could be much more effective. The antibodies produced as a result of the vaccine remain in our system, ready to bind with the spike protein of SARS-CoV-2 in the event of exposure. This blocks the spike protein from binding with healthy cells. The virus is unable to invade our cells. The virus is rendered harmless and is flushed out of our bodies. As we wait to be vaccinated, we can effectively prevent the spread of the virus: Wear a mask in public. Stay at least 6 feet away from others. Wash your hands frequently. Avoid touching your face. Get tested and quarantine if you suspect you may be infected.
