March 2021 Newsletter

Volume 03-2021

Message from Big Sir Anthony Butera

Hello fellow SIR Members. From time to time someone would ask me about Digital currencies like Bitcoins. I would just cringe every time I would hear the word Bitcoins. With 2021 on its way I decided to do more research on this topic. What is a Bitcoin? The Bitcoin is the first and largest asset in the growing category of cryptocurrency (also known as digital currency). It was originally intended as a medium of exchange that is created and held electronically. Bitcoin was the first, but there are hundreds of digital currencies. Bitcoins aren't printed by a government organization like the US Treasury does with dollars. Instead, they're produced by people and businesses running computers all around the world, using software that solves a very complex mathematical problem. Who controls Bitcoin? One of the important points is that no single person, entity, or organization controls Bitcoin. The fact that Bitcoin is not controlled or administered by a large bank or government entity is part of its appeal for many—but that also makes it harder to understand. How is the value of Bitcoin determined?

Digital currency functions differently from traditional money. The price of a Bitcoin is determined by the supply and demand on the exchanges where it trades, while the buying power of traditional money is influenced by factors such as central bank monetary policy, inflation, and foreign currency exchange rates. Who accepts Bitcoin? No law requires companies or individuals to accept Bitcoin as a form of payment. Instead, Bitcoin use is limited to businesses and individuals that are willing to accept Bitcoins. Platforms that buy and sell Bitcoins may be unregulated, can be hacked, may stop operating, and some have failed. In addition, like the platforms themselves, digital wallets can be hacked.

For example, a fraudster could pose as a Bitcoin exchange, Bitcoin intermediary, or trader in an effort to lure you to send money, which is then stolen.

With so many questions about Bitcoin best to sit back and enjoy the sunshine and continue interact within our family, friends and community.

Humor

♦ I read that 4,153,237 people got married last year, not to cause any trouble but shouldn't that be an even number?

♦ Today a man knocked on my door and asked for a small donation towards the local swimming pool. I gave him a glass of water.

♦ I want to die peacefully in my sleep, like my grandfather. Not screaming and yelling like the passengers in his car.

♦ I find it ironic that the colors red, white, and blue stand for freedom until they are flashing behind you.

♦ When wearing a bikini, women reveal 90% of their body... men are so polite they only look at the covered parts.

♦ A recent study has found that woman who carry a little extra weight, live longer than the men who mention it.

♦ America is a country which produces citizens who will cross the ocean to fight for democracy but won't cross the street to vote.

♦ You know that tingly little feeling you get when you like someone? That's your common sense leaving your body.

♦ Did you know that dolphins are so smart that within a few weeks of captivity, they can train people to stand on the very edge of the pool and throw them fish?

♦ My therapist says I have a preoccupation with vengeance. We'll see about that.

♦ I think my neighbor is stalking me as she's been googling my name on her computer. I saw it through my telescope last night.

♦ Money talks ..but all mine ever says is good-bye.

♦ You're not fat, you're just... easier to see.

♦ If you think nobody cares whether you're alive, try missing a couple of payments.

♦ I always wondered what the job application is like at Hooters. Do they just give you a bra and say, "Here, fill this out?"

♦ My therapist said that my narcissism causes me to misread social situations. I'm pretty sure she was hitting on me.

♦ My 60 year kindergarten reunion is coming up soon and I'm worried about the 175 pounds I've gained since then.

♦ Denny's has a slogan, "If it's your birthday, the meal is on us." If you're in Denny's and it's your birthday, your life sucks!

♦ The pharmacist asked me my birth date again today. I'm pretty sure she's going to get me something.

♦ The location of your mailbox shows you how far away from your house you can be in a robe before you start looking like a mental patient.

♦ The reason Mayberry was so peaceful and quiet was because nobody was married. Andy, Aunt Bea, Barney, Floyd, Howard, Goober, Gomer, Sam, Earnest T Bass, Helen, Thelma Lou, Clara and, of course, Opie were all single. The only married person was Otis, and he stayed drunk.

All of us are under attack right now by a virus, COVID-19. We, as all those over 65 years old, are susceptible to this virus, which could cause death. We need to take action now by seeking a vaccine. This special edition newsletter has been produced to give you information about the vaccine and where you can go to begin the process. Vaccines help our immune system fight infections in the future. COVID19 vaccines will protect us from the virus that causes COVID-19 without having to get the illness. It typically takes a few weeks after the last dose in a series to become fully protected. On the days after taking the vaccine, you may have a sore arm, aches, fatigue or fever, but these are not harmful. These symptoms signal that your immune system is developing protection from the virus.

In a race to produce a COVID-19 vaccine, scientists turned to a new technology involving our body's own genetic process. Inside our cells, DNA produces RNA that produces proteins. The Moderna and Pfizer vaccines transport RNA in a lipid or fat membrane to our cells via the vaccine. That RNA then instructs our cells to produce a protein like the one found on the surface of the SARS-CoV-2 virus, which causes COVID-19. Our immune system recognizes the virus's protein as an invader and produces antibodies to block the protein from proliferating in a future infection. People typically get infected by breathing in airborne droplets from a person who is carrying the virus. The droplets are spread if the carrier coughs, sneezes, talks or just breathes. SARS-CoV-2 has spike proteins on its surface, giving it a "corona" or crown shape. The proteins latch onto receptors on human cells, allowing the virus to invade the cell. As the spike protein attaches to one of our cells, it dramatically changes its shape. Peptides shoot into the cell and pull the cell wall apart, allowing the virus to invade. Once inside, RNA in the virus uses the cell's own genetic process to replicate large quantities of the virus that eventually burst out of the cell. In our bodies, DNA produces RNA that produces proteins. This happens inside our cells. The Moderna and Pfizer vaccines take advantage of this natural process by transporting RNA in a lipid or fat membrane to our cells and then instructing our cells to produce a spike protein like the one found on the surface of the virus. RNA vaccines work by getting our cells to produce the spike protein free of any virus. Our immune system recognizes the protein as an invader and produces antibodies to block the protein from binding with receptors in a future attack. In a major breakthrough, scientists at National Institutes of Health and the University of Texas realized that making a vaccine with the proper shaped protein could be much more effective. The antibodies produced as a result of the vaccine remain in our system, ready to bind with the spike protein of SARS-CoV-2 in the event of exposure. This blocks the spike protein from binding with healthy cells. The virus is unable to invade our cells. The virus is rendered harmless and is flushed out of our bodies. As we wait to be vaccinated, we can effectively prevent the spread of the virus: Wear a mask in public. Stay at least 6 feet away from others. Wash your hands frequently. Avoid touching your face. Get tested and quarantine if you suspect you may be infected.
